The goal of this workshop is to expose YES participants to Evergreen Collective and share their mission to make it simple for busy people to find ethically made home essentials that encourage a sustainable lifestyle.

YES staff (Kalley and Jake) will visit Evergreen Collective and take a tour with the shop's owner, Taylor Hall, while she highlights some sustainability swaps that students can make in their own lives.

After the tour, we will sit down with Taylor and ask her about what drew her to opening a store and sharing her mission with consumers. We will also be asking Taylor questions from YES students that have been submitted before hand, as well as questions from students and coaches who are participating live. If you have questions for Taylor and won't be able to attend in real time, please send them to Jake (jake@yesmn.org) ahead of time, and we will ask!
